

WILL VS. BE GOING TO

1. A: I'd love a cup of tea. B: Good idea. I'll make some.
2. A: What is Jack studying? B: Medicine. He's going to be a doctor.
3. A: What are you doing over the summer? B: We're going to spend it in England.
4. A: Can you call him back? B: Of course. I'll call him now.
5. A: What do you think the weather will be like tomorrow? B: The forecast is for sunny intervals.
6. A: Don't forget to give me your keys. B: No, I'll give you them now.
7. A: Have you decided what to do? B: Yes, I'm not going to sell. It's not a good time.
8. A: How much more have you got to do? B: Too much. I'll never get it finished.
9. A: How old is Emily? B: She'll be forty next month.
10. A: Is Anne happy in her new job? B: No, she isn't. She's going to resign.
11. Can't you drive faster? We're not going to get there until late afternoon at this rate.
12. Don't go in April, the weather will be better in June.
13. He won't be there yet. He said he'd arrive around 6.30.
14. It's already half past seven. I'm going to be late.
15. I think he'll get here in a few minutes.
16. Look out! You're going to crash into a cyclist if you're not careful.
17. If we don't go now, we'll be late.
18. I'm sure you'll have a wonderful time.
19. I've accepted the job. I'm going to become the shop manager.
20. We've decided we're going to sell the house and move to something smaller.